A CROSS ON HIS BACK.

It Was Made With Chalk, but Was Too Heavy to Carry.

There is a story of an envious tailor current with the French peasantry. He fancied that his neighbor, who received a pension for the loss of an arm incurred while fighting for his country, was better off than himself. Both men went to pay their rent on the same day.

"That's a lucky man," said the tailor to the landlord. "He gets well paid for his arm."

"But who would be willing to part with an arm, even if he were paid for it?" said the landlord.

"I would," declared the tailor. "You!" cried the landlord. "Why, man, you wouldn't be willing to bear anything of the sort, no matter how much you were paid for it."

"I wish some one would try me."

"Now, see here," said the landlord, who had studied human nature. "I'll tell you what, if you'll wear even so much as a chalk mark on your back I'll remit your rent as long as you wear it on your coat so it can be seen, the condition being that you tell no one why it is there."

"Agreed," said the tailor eagerly.

"That's an easy way to pay rent!"

So the chalk mark in the form of a cross was made on the back of his coat, and the delighted tailor salled forth upon the street.

Strangers and acquaintances hailed him to tell him of the mark on his back. Jokes were made at his expense, children laughed and pointed at him, and his wife annoyed him with questions and with conjugal familiarity told him he was a fool. The usually amiable man grew surly and morose; he shunned men, women and children and frequented back streets. Before the week was up the tailor found himself embroiled in a quarrel with his best friend, his wife had threatened to leave his house and he considered himself miserable and ill used.

Finally, one night he took off his coat and rubbed out the chalk mark and said: "There! I would not wear that cross on my back another week, no, not if I could have all the money there is in Paris!"—Youth's Companion.

SHAVING A DEAD MAN.

A Job That Occupied an Impecunious Artist About a Week.

"I have just finished shaving a dead man," said a local artist. "The job occupied me about a week and—" "Good heavens!" ejaculated a horrified friend, "what d'ye mean?" "Don't be alarmed," replied the artist calmly. "The operation was not as repulsive as you may imagine. In fact, I performed it with a brush. You see, a certain family of my acquaintance have a large oil painting of the head of the house, who departed from this vale of tears some time in the early eighties. At the time the portrait was made he wore a full beard, which was contrary to his usual custom, and the family, who remember him best with a smooth face, have been anxious ever since to get off the whiskers. I was engaged to shave the portrait, and hard times and approaching rent day persuaded me to accept the commission, which, needless to say, was highly antipathetic to my artistic instincts."

"I had to depend entirely on the recollection of the family for my data, and I found, to my alarm, that each member had retained a different impression of the old gentleman's chin. One claimed it was double and another insisted that it was sharp and clean cut; a daughter described it as 'square and determined,' and the widow assured me privately that it was shaped like the prow of an armored cruiser. Altogether I found myself in a duse of a fix. It was no trouble to take off the whiskers; I did that in three fell swoops; but when I blocked out the jaw experimentally and called in the crowd for suggestions, there was a grand chorus of protest. Strange to say, I pleased nobody, and I have been correcting, amending, remodeling and doing it all over again ever since. One point of dispute was the location of a wart, which half the family said was on the left and half on the right. I finally effected a compromise by painting in two warts, one on each side. I got my fee all right, but before I take another tussorial job I'll go to driving a trolley car."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Curious Funeral Custom.
In Switzerland death is attended by a custom which calls upon all charitable and Christian people to show their sympathy. A notice edged with a wide black line appears in the daily papers setting forth the day and hour when sympathizers must assemble before the house of the deceased. At the time named a little cloth covered table, supporting a good sized jar, is stood before the house, table, cloth and jar all being of a somber, ebony hue, and into the latter small mourning cards, bearing the name and address of their owners, are deposited. The day the funeral takes place is the day selected for the exhibition of the jar. No ladies are allowed to follow at a Swiss funeral.

Unexpected.

"Why, Clara," said a mother to her little daughter, who was crying, "what are you crying about?"

"'C-cause,'" sobbed the little miss, "I started to m-make dolly a b-bonnet, and it c-comed out b-bloomers."—Trained Motherhood.

Settled It.

He (a suitor) — Grammarians have never been quite sure of the proper distinction between "I shall" and "I will," but to my mind there is no difficulty.

She—I don't quite know the distinction myself.

He (thinking he sees his opportunity)—Well, take the question, "Will you marry me?" Supposing I ask you, your reply would be not "I will," but—

She (emphatically) — I won't! Judy.

It is probably true that love laughs at locksmiths, but any careful reader of the proceedings of the divorce courts cannot fail to observe that the locksmiths get a laughing inning later on.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

PROFESSORS AND STUDENTS.

The example which the resigning professors gave the students of in-subordination was quite sufficient to account for all their attempted demonstrations and resolutions.—Gazette.

The Gazette makes a clean-cut assertion, and it is made for the purpose of throwing mud at men whose self-repeal would not allow double dealing applied to them to pass without a protest. Why should these men, who have had the gaff of an assassin in sheep's clothing applied to their standing as men in their professions, be bounded and reviled after the intended death thrust has been given?

It is a ruling passion in an assassin and cowardly nature that ever strike in the dark to excuse an intended deadly stab in a vital part by abusing its victim, which principle in an assassin nature is exemplified by a dislike by the assassin ever after for the person injured.

It is very strange that Professor Jackson's better feelings and desires in human nature could not be given an opportunity to satisfy their humane promptings by taking an affectionate leave of the young men who were under his care and tuition, without having the incident, which proves that the higher and better parts of our nature are anchored in his soul, turned to his disadvantage by giving them the character of a wrong intention, by clothing them with colors which are the out-givings of a subservient nature.

The action of Professor Phillips, clothed in the light of truth, has more of the touch of a true man in it than those who seek to turn his devotion to a friend into ridicule, ever conceived to be in the make-up of a man and gentleman. The character of Professor Phillips, made known by devotion to a friend, was first emphasized to the world by Damon and Pythias, and the character has been so much admired by the race that the admiration it receives in a monument to its recognized grandeur to-day, and will be till Deity has given it perfection by recognizing it as the first and best principle in man.

The flings that have been made by the Gazette at these gentlemen, who have been most honorable in all they have done, should be regarded by our better people as coming from a source most foul, as the stream that flows through the paper gives character to the vileness of the fountain.

The minds of the young men and students who were in the classes of Professors Jackson and Phillips have tread the right way, which has been established by their devotion to the gentlemen who occupied the chairs included in their course of study.

There is not in them any of the spirit manifested in the Gazette. They have made a protest against the injury and against "the wrong they have received" in the only way that remained for them to pursue, which was by passing resolutions, and by doing so and giving out to those who are interested in their welfare their sense of injustice that they and their professors have received, is not within the line of insubordination but is within the grandest part there is in the race, which is individuality.

The character included in and given by the students, to those who know them, by the action they have taken gives assurance to their friends that they will be heard in the future as true men in honorable walks in life.

The JOURNAL believes in obedience to law and to moral government, and it also believes, that obedience to the rules of law and moral government can not be enforced in a community made up of hypocrites. To have high standing in the observance of these rules they must operate upon men who have in them manly principles, and wherever these principles are in the ascendant there are men who will deal with the rights of their fellows in a just and humane manner.

In all the students have done there is proof that each of them possess the qualities that make men in a supreme sense who will know their rights and knowing will maintain them.

UNIVERSITY MATTERS

The JOURNAL has received a telegram from Doctor Stubbs, that appears in another column, which in effect requests a suspension of discussion of University matters until his return.

Those who seek the right should concede the right to others to be heard, that no injustice may be done. The JOURNAL for that reason will publish nothing more of a personal nature pertaining to the controversy until the Doctor's return.

NEWS OF THE SAGEBRUSH STATE

Brief Items Culled From Exchanges From the Four Corners of Nevada.

ELKO.

Editor Booher was murderedly assaulted at Elko Monday evening by a man named Armstrong who used a club. Booher published an article about a robbery in which Armstrong's boy was concerned, but had given no names.

LYON.

Dayton visitors say the mild weather is causing fruit trees on Carson river ranch to begin budding.

DOUGLAS.

Seossa Bros. are running a tunnel on their mine back of Sheridan. They are now in 150 feet and have a good prospect. They are having an ore car built.—Record.

ESMERALDA.

Yep Sow, who was convicted of murder in the second degree in this county in 1886, and sentenced to State prison for life, will apply for a pardon at the next meeting of the Board.

The reports from the mines at Silver Peak, Sylvan, Tule Canyon, Oriental, Pine Grove and Mt. Grant are more encouraging than ever before, while the copper mines in the vicinity of Soda are good enough to induce capitalists from other states to expend large amounts of money in exploratory work.

The Vulcan Copper Company is preparing to sink wells near Luning, and if sufficient water can be secured, of which there is no doubt, the company will build reduction works near the Parrot mine, and thus save the cost of hauling to more distant points.

The Pacific Copper Company own seventeen claims near Soda Valley. The ore is ruby copper, something only known heretofore to exist in small kidneys and seen in cabinets as rare specimens. A peculiar feature of these mines is the fact that the wall rock 70 feet from the ledge contains native copper, which leached out and was deposited in the fissures of the rock, making it payable grade ore.

Development Work.

C. O. Wallace and his associates, who bonded the Tri-Metallic mine, are progressing rapidly with their development work.

Under the direction of Captain Griffin a tunnel is being extended 400 feet further in order to tap the ledge at considerable depth. If the lead looks as well as could be reasonably expected from its surface formation, a purchase will undoubtedly be made.

Weather too Fine.

Truckee meadow ranchers are not enjoying this spring-like weather. The river is flowing such a great volume of water that fears are entertained that there will be a water shortage the coming season.

On the other hand, reports from the summit are that there are five feet of hard packed snow on the level. With another storm or two plenty of water seems assured.

Cessation of Gambling.

There are only half as many gambling games running in Reno at present as there were before the holidays.

Taro is the only game that is played to any extent. Keno has quit. Klondike and craps have about gone the way of all flesh, and stud poker is not receiving the attention given to it some weeks ago.

Building Resumed.

Since the present fair weather began building operations have been resumed. Carpenters and members of the allied trades are busier than they usually are at this time of year. The outlook is for extensive construction and repair work the coming summer. Already a number of contracts have been placed.

Cruelty to Animals.

If there be a society for prevention of cruelty to animals in this city it is certainly sleeping. Several instances were noticed in the past day or two of crippled horses being abused and overburdened animals lashed for failing to do the work required of them by their brutal owners.

Across the Track.

Contractor Payne moved a large residence across the Central Pacific track east of town yesterday. He had the right of way over the trolley for thirty-five minutes.

Extensive Improvements.

The interior of the Washoe lunch counter is being remodeled. When the improvements are completed the restaurant will have twice its present capacity.

Ladies' Evening.

This evening the Wheesmen will entertain the ladies. A good program has been prepared and a pleasant time is assured.

Stock Shipments.

Fifteen cars of cattle arrived last Wednesday night from Amherst. They were shipped west yesterday.

WHAT FOSTER HAS PROGNOSTICATED

The "Journal's" Copyrighted Guess at What the Weather Will Be.

Copyrighted 1892 by W. T. Foster.

St. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 18.—My last bulletin gave forecast of the storm waves to cross the continent from January 25 to 29 and the next will reach Pacific Coast about Jan. 30, cross west of Rockies country by close of 31, great central valleys Feb. 1 to 8 Eastern States 4.

Warm wave will cross west of Rockies country about Jan. 30, great central valleys Feb. 1, Eastern States 3.

Cool wave will cross west of Rockies country about Feb. 2, great central valleys 4, Eastern States 9.

Temperature of week ending 8 A. M., Feb. 5 will average above normal in the great central valleys, and below normal on Pacific slope.

Rainfall will be below normal in the great central valleys and about on Pacific slope.

About the date of this bulletin a high temperature wave will be crossing the great central valleys and immediately behind it will come the most severe cold wave of the month, probably the greatest storm of the winter, but the temperature will remain low only a few days.

Peace Restored.

Not many moons ago we said something that we ought to say. We are sorry for. It was about the Virginia Chronicle.

The editor of that paper cut off the JOURNAL from its exchange list. We retaliated and went up town every evening and hunted up a Chronicle. The presumption is that the Virginia editor did likewise.

Finally he stopped being mad and we have forgiven him for having said mean things about him.

Last night our brother sent us a copy of his paper. We will reciprocate.

LONGFELLOW'S ADVICE.

Kindness Was the Keynote of the Poet's Character.

Mme. de Navarro gives some charming pictures of Longfellow in "A Few Memories." She says that every conversation with him led to some good result. His first advice to her was: "See some good picture—in nature if possible, or on canvas—hear a page of the best music or read a great poem daily. You will always find a free half hour for one or the other, and at the end of the year your mind will shine, with such an accumulation of jewels, as to astonish even yourself."

The poet was fond of a good, amusing story and had many to tell out of his own experience. He was particularly delighted at the ingenuity of an enterprising vendor of patent medicine who, vaunting the "marvelous effects" of his drug, no doubt in the hope of inspiring the poet, invited him to write a verse for the label, promising him a percentage on each bottle and a free use of the medicine for himself and family.

On one of his birthdays he was astonished at seeing a wagon containing a piano drive up to his house, followed by a strange young lady in a carriage. The young lady informed the housekeeper that she wished the piano to be put in a room where it would "sound well" as she had composed a piece of music in honor of the poet's birthday and meant to play it to him on her own piano.

Longfellow was a great lover of music, and Wagner appealed to him strongly. We heard several operas together in Boston after my engagement there. He generally arrived before us, armed with flowers and full of delightful anticipations. On one of these occasions some one sent a magnificent bouquet to our box. Not knowing the donor, I did not take it up. He insisted on my doing so.

"Put down my simple ones," he said, "and take up these beautiful flowers. It will gratify the giver, who is no doubt in the house. Try never to miss an opportunity of giving pleasure. It will make you happier and better."

Kindness was the keynote of his character. No inconvenience to himself was too great if a good turn to any one was at the end of it.

Building Resumed.

Since the present fair weather began building operations have been resumed. Carpenters and members of the allied trades are busier than they usually are at this time of year. The outlook is for extensive construction and repair work the coming summer.

Already a number of contracts have been placed.

PERSONALS.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Drake of San Francisco are guests at the Palace.

F. Flannery and T. Kieran of Virginia were among yesterday's arrivals at the Arcade.

C. M. Sain arrived from Lovelock last evening.

Professor Jackson left last night for San Francisco.

George Hymers is convalescent.

Judge Talbot, who has been holding court here the past few days, left last night for Elko.

G. C. Wallace of Nevada and G. A. Hamilton of San Francisco, who are concerned in the recent transfer of the Tri-Metallic mine, are spending a few days in town.

Assessor Evans has recovered from his recent attack of inflammatory rheumatism to the extent that he is able to attend to the duties of his office again.

State Superintendent Orvis Ring and Secretary of State Howell were in Reno yesterday.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at S. J. Hodkinson's drug store.

Peace Restored.

Not many moons ago we said something that we ought to say. We are sorry for. It was about the Virginia Chronicle.

The editor of that paper cut off the JOURNAL from its exchange list. We retaliated and went up town every evening and hunted up a Chronicle. The presumption is that the Virginia editor did likewise.

A Small Blaze.

Yesterday afternoon an alarm was turned in for a fire on Sierra street. The department had no difficulty confining the blaze to the small building in which it started. The property destroyed was of no great value. It was in the rear of the store of Godfrey Merklinger. The building was used for woodworking in connection with the Buncell blacksmith shop.

Bishop Whittaker's Mission.

Bishop Ozl W. Whittaker, who formerly resided in this city, set sail several days ago for Havana.

His mission is to look after the work of the Protestant Episcopal schools in the Island of Cuba.

similarly afflicted may read it and be like magic with me. My foot was swollen and painful very much, but one good application of Palo Balm relieved me. For Sale by Wm. Pinniger,

STUDENTS EXPRESS THEIR SENTIMENTS.

Quite a Street Demonstration Made by the College Boys Yesterday.

"We ought to hang the Regents to a sour apple tree."

Thus sang the University students as they marched at noon yesterday through the streets of Reno. They didn't seem to be ashamed either of what they were doing, the Associated Press correspondent to the contrary.

Immediately after general assembly was dismissed the students rallied at the gymnasium and followed a drum corps out of the big iron gates.

The procession halted in front of the residence of Dr. Phillips and saluted him with three ringing cheers and a tiger.

Dr. Jackson's home was next visited and there was a brief period of bedlam.
Down University avenue to Fourth then down Virginia street to the Plaza and across to Commercial Row the parade advanced, mingling cheers for Jackson and Phillips with the song that reached the heart of Regent Evans.

A brief halt was made in front of the Gazette office. Some vocalizing was done there, but not in the way of cheers.

The procession countermarched at the bridge and returned to the Journal office where the boys expressed their kind regards for this paper. The return to the University was a repetition of the march downtown.

This action by the boys was not in the nature of a communistic demonstration. It was simply an expression of sympathy for their much-loved professors who are no longer their instructors, and an evidence of their lack of approval of the action of those who caused these professors to be taken from them.

The students would have been accused of a deficiency in spirit and a lack of independence which marks the true man, if they had submitted in silence to the wrongs that had been perpetrated upon the school.

After the parade the boys buckled down to work and not a ripple now disturbs the calm surface of University work.

The incident is closed at last, at least temporarily. The school has had a big shaking up. It will ultimately do it great good. When the Board of Regents have time to sober down and calmly review the situation they will doubtless recognize the errors of their ways and make the amende honorable.
When this is done the great future ahead of the University will begin to manifest itself.

A SURE CURE FOR CROUP.

Twenty-five Years' Constant Use
"without a Failure."

Clippings from the Truckee "Republican" and Other Sources.

The yellow flag has been taken down from J. McIver's residence.

There is scarcely enough snow to cover the hillsides while the streets are almost bare. Wagons are in use altogether throughout the town.

The Donner Ice Company has about two hundred men at their ice works.

About forty men came up from down the river Sunday where they had been working on the ice.

A man named Cannon was fined $5 yesterday for disturbing the peace by Judge Finnegan.

There is quite a number of Indiana working on the ice this season, and there are more than the usual number of females in town. They get in their time around the corners in sheltered places gambling. At times some of them get hold of liquor and become quite noisy.

Last Sunday morning a number of men who had been working on the ice about Iceland left there to come to Truckee. One, known as Jim Wade-worth, thought he would get on top of a passenger coach and ride up in that way to save car fare. He had just climbed to the top of the coach as the train started, and he fell to the ground, his head striking a rock as he came down. His head was cut to the skull.
He was picked up and brought to town on the "swing." Dr. Shoemaker dressed the wound and sewed it up, several stitches being necessary to close up the gash. He says he served in the Spanish-American war. He was a gritty fellow and stood the shock well.

General Assembly.

There was a large attendance at the general assembly yesterday at 11:30.
Professor C. P. Brown delivered an address on "Irrigation." The matter was handled in an instructive and entertaining manner.

A brief business meeting was held at the conclusion of the address. A committee was appointed to arrange for an entertainment, the proceeds of which are to be applied to liquidating the indebtedness incurred by building the gymnasium.
